The Principal of the Central College states that these are as much part of the permanent establishment of the Chemistry Laboratory as the Mechanics of the Physics Laboratory and recommends that both the above appointments may be made permanent. I request that Government may be pleased to sanction the same.

SIR,

With reference to your letter No.2765/Edn.12-14-151 dated 8th February 1915, I have the honour to forward herewith copies of letter No.417 dated 23rd February and of D.O. letter dated 8th March 1915 from the Principal, Central College, regarding the permanent employment of the carpenter and the store keeper attached to the Chemical Laboratory and to recommend that the carpenter's place on Rs.30 per mensem may be continued temporarily till the end of June 1916 and that of the store keeper may be made permanent on the pay of Rs.30-2-40, for the reasons given in the Principal's D.O. letter of the 8th instant.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

S.S.

Letter No.417 dated 23rd February 1915 from the Principal, Central College, Bangalore, to the Inspector General of Education in Mysore, Bangalore:--

---

With reference to your letter No.14088/1466 dated 17th instant, I have the honour to request that you will be so good as to remind Government of what seems to have been forgotten, viz., that when the design of the new Chemical Laboratory was sanctioned and the building was fitted up Government accepted the view that a well-equipped carpenter's workshop is a necessary adjunct to a Chemistry Laboratory. I need hardly add that a carpenter's workshop without a carpenter would not be of much use.

With regard to the pay of the storekeeper I request that you will kindly point out to Government that it is very bad policy to put a man on small pay in charge of valuable chemicals which can be stolen in small quantities, and that a suitable man for the post cannot be got on less pay.

D.O. letter dated 8th March 1915 from the Principal Central College, Bangalore to the Inspector General of Education in Mysore, Bangalore --

----oOo----

Your D.O. Letter No.1080 dated 4th March, 1915.

The work of the Chemistry Laboratory Store-keeper is as follows:--

He is, like the Physics Store-keeper, in charge of all the Laboratory apparatus, and issues it as required. He is also, unlike the Physics man, in charge of a large chemical store, and of the departmental library. There is, however, a fundamental difference between practical physics and practical chemistry; in the former there is no regular wastage of material, breakages are accidental and exceptional, and the Store-keeper's duties are practically confined to putting out specified pieces of apparatus for a practical class and seeing that they are put away again. In practical chemistry every-student has to be provided with a set of apparatus, mostly delicate and breakable, and he also uses up large quantities of chemicals. There is every year necessarily a great deal of breakage. The Store-keeper issues to every student at the beginning of the year a set of apparatus and receives a deposit from the student. He also issues a cupboard and drawer key to every student, and receives a deposit for that. At the end of the year the deposit is refunded on the return of the key and the apparatus in good condition, a certain specified allowance of breakage being made. Thus the store-keeper has to know the names of every piece of apparatus and of every chemical in the department (there are several hundred different kinds of apparatus and at least a thousand different chemicals). He has also to know the exact whereabouts of all of them. He has to received deposits from students; keep an account of and refund them at the end of the year, and to keep a continual check on apparatus and chemicals. Apart from chemicals, one important difference between the material of the Physics and Chemistry Laboratories is that the former consists of a limited number of valuable articles, and the latter of an enormously greater number of articles of much less value. Hence, there is no possibility of the loss of physics material by petty waste, andan actual theft would be immediately obvious. On the other hand, in the absence of any proper check on quantities, chemicals and small cheap articles may be wasted unnecessarily without the knowledge of those in charge; and thefts may take place. These things undoubtedly happenad before we had a Store-keeper, but cannot happen now without our knowledge. It will be understood that the effective checking of large quantities of apparatus and chemicals in which there is continuous traffic involves a great deal of work. By way of an example a student more often than not requires some apparatus not in his ordinary set: this is furnished by the Store-keeper only on production of a properly filled in slip, which is then filed. A similar arrangement holds good in the case of books from the Library.

The qualifications of the store-keeper are:--

(1). He has had an office training and can keep books neatly and methodically; and

(2) He receives a salary which is just sufficient to make it worth his while to remain honest.
